

I would be blinde with weeping, sicke with grones,
 Look pale as Prim-rose with blood-drinking fighes,
 And all to haue the Noble Duke aliue.
 What know I how the world may deeme of me?
 For it is knowne we were but hollow Friends:
 It may be iudg'd I made the Duke away,
 So shall my name with Slanders tongue be wounded,
 And Princes Courts be fill'd with my reproach:
 This get I by his death: Aye me vnhappy,
 To be a Queene, and Crown'd with infamie.

King. Ah woe is me for Gloster, wretched man.

Queen. Be woe for me, more wretched then he is.
 What, dost thou turne away, and hide thy face?
 I am no loathsome Leaper, looke on me.
 What? Art thou like the Adder waxen deafe?
 Be poysonous too, and kill thy forlorne Queene.
 Is all thy comfort shut in Glosters Tombe?
 Why then Dame Elienor was neere thy ioy.

Erect his Statue, and worship it,
 And make my Image but an Ale-house signe.
 Was I for this nye wrack'd vpon the Sea,
 And twice by auerward winde from Englands banke
 Droue backe againe vnto my Native Clime.
 What boaded this? but well fore-warning winde
 Did seeme to say, seeke not a Scorpions Nest,
 Nor set no footing on this vnkinde Shore.
 What did I then? But curst the gentle gusts,
 And he that loos'd them forth their Brazen Caves,
 And bid them blow towards Englands blessed shore,
 Or turne our Sterne vpon a dreadfull Rocke:
 Yet Aeolus would not be a murderer,
 But left that hatefull office vnto thee.

The pretty vaulting Sea refus'd to drowne me,
 Knowing that thou wouldst haue me drown'd on shore
 With teares as salt as Sea, through thy vnkindnesse.
 The splitting Rockes cower'd in the sinking sands,
 And would not dash me with their ragged sides,
 Because thy flinty heart more hard then they,
 Might in thy Pallace, perish Elienor.

As farre as I could ken thy Chalky Cliffes,
 When from thy Shore, the Tempest beate vs backe,
 I stood vpon the Hatches in the storme:
 And when the duskie sky, began to rob
 My earnest-gaping sight of thy Lands view,
 Iooke a costly lewell from my necke,
 A Hart it was bound in with Diamonds,
 And threw it towards thy Land: The Sea receiu'd it,
 And so I wish'd thy body might my Heart:

And euen with this, I lost faire Englands view,
 And bid mine eyes be packing with my Heart,
 And call'd them blinde and duskie Spectacles,
 For loosing ken of Albions wish'd Coast:
 How often haue I tempted Suffolkes toague,
 (The agent of thy foule inconstancie)
 To sit and watch me as Acanis did,
 When he to madding Dido would vnfold

His Fathers Acts, commenc'd in burning Troy.
 Am I not witcht like her? Or thou not false like him?
 Aye me, I canno more: Dye Elienor,
 For Henry weepes, that thou dost liue so long.

Noyse within. Enter Warwicke, and many others.

War. It is reported, mighty Soueraigne,
 That good Duke Humfrey Traiterously is murdered

By Suffolke, and the Cardinall Beaufords meanes:
 The Commons like an angry Hiue of Bees
 That want their Leader, scatter vp and downe,
 And care not who they sting in his reuenge.
 My selfe haue calm'd their spleenfull mutinie,
 Vntill they heare the order of his death.

King. That he is dead good Warwicke, 'tis too true,
 Budhow he dyed, God knowes, not Henry:
 Enter his Chamber, view his breathlesse Corpes,
 And comment then vpon his sodaine death.

War. That shall I do my Liege; Stay Salisbury
 With the rude multitude, till I returne.

King. O thou that iudgeth all things, stay my thoughts:
 My thoughts, that labour to perfwade my soule,
 Some violent hands were laid on Humfries life:
 If my suspēct be false, forgive me God,
 For iudgement onely doth belong to thee:
 Faine would I go to chafe his palie lips,
 With twenty thousand kisses, and to draine
 Vpon his face an Ocean of salt teares,
 To tell my loue vnto his dumbe deafe trunke,
 And with my fingers feeles his hand, vnfeeling:
 But all in vaine are these meane Obsequies,

Bed put forth.
 And to suruey his dead and earthy Image:
 What were it but to make my sorrow greater?

War. Come hither gracious Soueraigne, view this body.

King. That is to see how deepe my graue is made,
 For with his foule fled all my worldly solace:
 For seeing him, I see my life in death.

War. As surely as my soule intends to liue
 With that dread King that tooke our state vpon him,
 To free vs from his Fathers wrathfull curse,
 I do beleue that violent hands were laid
 Vpon the life of this thrice-famed Duke.

Suff. A dreadfull Oath, sworne with a solemn tongue:
 What instance giues Lord Warwicke for his vow.

War. See how the blood is feeld in his face.
 Oft haue I seene a timely-parted Ghost,
 Of ashy semblance, meager, pale, and bloodlesse,
 Being all descend'd to the labouring heart,
 Who in the Conflict that it holds with death,
 Attracts the same for aydance 'gainst the enemy,
 Which with the heart there cooles, and ne're returneth,
 To blush and beautifie the Cheeke againe.

But see, his face is blacke, and full of blood:
 His eye-balles further out, than when he liued,
 Staring full gaskly, like a strangled man:
 His hayre vprear'd, his nostrils stretcht with strugling:
 His hands abroad display'd, as one that graspt
 And tugg'd for Life, and was by strength subdu'd,
 Looke on the sheets his haire (you see) is sticking,
 His well proportion'd Beard, made ruffe and rugged,
 Like to the Summers Come by Tempest lodged:
 It cannot be but he was murdered heere,
 The least of all these signes were probable.

Suff. Why Warwicke, who should do the D. to death?
 My selfe and Beauford had him in protection,
 And we I hope for, are no murderers.

War. But both of you were vow'd D. Humfries foes,
 And you (forsooth) had the good Duke to keepe:
 Tis like you would not feast him like a friend,
 And 'tis well seene, he found an enemy.

Queen. Than you belike suspect these Noblemen,
 As guilty of Duke Humfries timelesse death.

War. Who finds the Heyfer dead, and bleeding fresh,
 And sees fast-by, a Butcher with an Axe,
 But will suspect, 'twas he that made the slaughter?
 Who finds the Partridge in the Puttocks Nest,
 But may imagine how the Bird was dead,
 Although the Kye soare with vnbloudied Beake?
 Euen so suspicious is this Tragedie.

Qu. Are you the Butcher, Suffolke? where's your Knife?
 Is Beauford tearm'd a Kye? where are his Tallons?

Suff. I weare no Knife, to slaughter sleeping men,
 But here's a vengefull Sword, rusted with ease,
 That shall be scowred in his rancorous heart,
 That slanders me with Murthers Crimson Badge.
 Say, if thou dar'st, prowd Lord of Warwickshire,
 That I am faultie in Duke Humfries death.

War. What dares not Warwicke, if false Suffolke dare him?

Qu. He dares not calme his contumelious Spirit,
 Nor cease to be an arrogant Controller,
 Though Suffolke dare him twentie thousand times.

War. Madame be still: with reuerence may I say,
 For every word you speake in his behalfe,
 Is slander to your Royall Dignitie.

Suff. Blunt-witted Lord, ignoble in demeanor,
 If euer Lady wrong'd her Lord so much,
 Thy Mother tooke into her blamefull Bed
 Some sterne vntur'd Churle; and Noble Stock
 Was graft with Crab-tree slippe, whose Fruit thou art,
 And neuer of the Nenils Noble Race.

War. But that the guilt of Murder bucklers thee,
 And I should rob the Deaths-man of his Fee,
 Quitting thee thereby of ten thousand shames,
 And that my Soueraignes presence makes me milde,
 I would, false murd'rous Coward, on thy Knee
 Make thee begge pardon for thy passed speech,
 And say, it was thy Mother that thou meant'st,
 That thou thy selfe wast borne in Bastardie;
 And after all this fearefull Homage done,
 Give thee thy hyre, and send thy Soule to Hell,
 Pernicious blood-sucker of sleeping men.

Suff. Thou shalt be waking, while I shed thy blood,
 If from this presence thou dar'st goe with me.

War. Away euen now, or I will drag thee hence:
 Voworthy though thou art, Ile cope with thee,
 And doe some seruice to Duke Humfries Ghost.

King. What stronger Brest-plate then a heart vntainted?
 Thrice is he arm'd, that hath his Quarrell iust;
 And he but naked, though lockt vp in Steele,
 Whole Conscience with Iniustice is corrupted.

Queen. What noyse is this?

Enter Suffolke and Warwicke, with their Weapons drawne.

King. Why how now Lords?
 Your wrathfull Weapons drawne,
 Here in our presence? Dare you be so bold?
 Why what tumultuous clamor haue we here?

Suff. The trayt'rous Warwicke, with the men of Bury,
 Set all vpon me, mightie Soueraigne.

Enter Salisbury.

Salisb. Sirs stand apart, the King shall know your minde.

Dread Lord, the Commons send you word by me,
 Vnlesse Lord Suffolke straight be done to death,
 Or banished faire Englands Territories,
 They will by violence teare him from your Pallace,
 And torture him with grievous lingring death.
 They say, by him the good Duke Humfrey dy'd:
 They say, in him they feare your Highnesse death;
 And meere instinct of Loue and Loyaltie,
 Free from a stubborne opposite intent,
 As being thought to contradiet your liking,
 Makes them thus forward in his Banishment.
 They say, in care of your most Royall Person,
 That if your Highnesse should intend to sleepe,
 And charge, that no man should disturbe your rest,
 In paine of your dislike, or paine of death;
 Yet notwithstanding such a strait Edict,
 Were there a Serpent seene, with forked Tongue,
 That flyly glyd'd towards your Maiestie,
 It were but necessarie you were wak't:
 Least being suffer'd in that harmefull slumber,
 The mortall Worme might make the sleepe eternall.
 And therefore doe they cry, though you forbid,
 That they will guard you, where you will, or no,
 From such fell Serpents as false Suffolke is;
 With whose inuenomed and fatal sting,
 Your louing Vnckle, twentie times his worth,
 They say is shamefully bereft of life.

Commons within. An answer from the King, my Lord of Salisbury.

Suff. 'Tis like the Commons, rude vnpolisht Hindes,
 Could send such Message to their Soueraigne:
 But you, my Lord, were glad to be employ'd,
 To shew how quaint an Orator you are.
 But all the Honor Salisbury hath wonne,
 Is, that he was the Lord Embassador,
 Sent from a sort of Tinkers to the King.

Within. An answer from the King, or wee will all breake in.

King. Goe Salisbury, and tell them all from me,
 I thanke them for their tender louing care;
 And had I not bene cited so by them,
 Yet did I purpose as they doe entreat:
 For sure, my thoughts doe hourly prophecie,
 Mischance vnto my State by Suffolkes meanes.
 And therefore by his Maiestie I sweare,
 Whose farre-vmworthie Deputie I am,
 He shall not breathe infection in this ayre,
 But three dayes longer, on the paine of death.

Qu. Oh Henry, let me pleade for gentle Suffolke.

King. Vngentle Queene, to call him gentle Suffolke.
 No more I say: if thou dost pleade for him,
 Thou wilt but adde encrease vnto my Wrath.
 Had I but sayd, I would haue kept my Word;
 But when I sweare, it is irreuocable:
 If after three dayes space thou here bee'st found,
 On any ground that I am Ruler of,
 The World shall not be Ranome for thy Life.
 Come Warwicke, come good Warwicke, goe with mee,
 I haue great matters to impart to thee. Exit.

Qu. Mischance and Sorrow goe along with you,
 Hearts Discontent, and sowre Affliction,
 Be play-fellowes to keepe you companie:
 There's two of you, the Deuill make a third,
 And three-fold Vengeance tend vpon your steps.

Suff. Cease, gentle Queene, these Execrations,
 And let thy Suffolke take his heauie leaue.

Queen. Fye
